

We need the business community's help to unlock career opportunities for people reentering the workforce.

St. Anthony's Business Advisory Council (BAC) is a volunteer networking group that forges corporate and community relationships to help create professional opportunities for participants in St. Anthony's Workforce Development program. With members representing both local and national companies from a wide array of industries, the BAC is influential in educating the corporate sector about the benefits of hiring St. Anthony's participants.

"We seek compassionate employers to open doors that might not otherwise be open for somebody who had doors of opportunity slammed in their face because of their past."

- BRYAN YOUNG
Chief Talent Officer, St. Anthony's

Join us in creating a Bay Area in which all people can flourish.

Our workforce development program supports individuals along their path to career and personal renewal. We engage hundreds of participants per year to bridge the skills and opportunity gap and overcome barriers to employment due to prior experiences of homelessness, addiction, incarceration, and other challenges.

St. Anthony's provides participants with job skills and emotional intelligence training, wraparound social services, and paid job placements at both St. Anthony's and at Bay Area businesses. BAC members help secure employment partnerships with external businesses across industries.

Are you ready to make a real difference?

An ideal Business Advisory Council member checks these boxes:

- You are passionate about St. Anthony's mission and values
- You are a midlevel or higher professional with a developed network of business relationships
- You are ready to invest your social capital in order to create opportunities for others
